

EXECUTIVE LEADERSHIP

Executive Leadership (EXL) program is offered for working professionals who seek to advance to the executive level. The program is not designed for a specific industry or sector; instead, it is developed for preparing future executive leaders who can serve in any organization, either in business, non-profit, or government. The program will equip students with emerging leadership knowledge through systems thinking, complexity science, and crisis management for solving complex organizational problems.