

WELLNESS AND REHABILITATION DIVISION

The Wellness and Rehabilitation Division in the School of Health includes comprehensive and innovative programs to prepare graduates who fulfill varied professional roles focused on health promotion, disease management and prevention, and rehabilitative care. View each program page to learn more about our individual degree programs.